Calvert Health Continues Expansion in Virginia

Baltimore, MD – January 12, 2007 – Continuing its rapid growth across the Commonwealth, Calvert Health Partners, LLC (CHP) – a senior care management team - has purchased its fourth Virginia home health care agency, which has operations in Staunton and Charlottesville.

Baltimore-based CHP purchased Assured Home Health Care from Henix Partners, LLC on January 1, 2007. Just four months earlier, CHP acquired three private home health agencies including: Advantage Care of Shenandoah, serving the western Virginia/Shenandoah Valley area; Home Care Connection, Inc. of Richmond, and Tama Home Health, which serves the Norfolk and Virginia Beach markets. Terms of the transactions were not disclosed.

“We look forward to continuing our growth and further development of our services as we spread across Virginia and other adjoining mid-Atlantic states,” said David R. Nelson, president and CEO of CHP. “These acquisitions will serve as the foundation of the senior care services company of the future.”

Operations of Assured Home Health Care will be folded-into Advantage Care agency operations and employees are being offered employment with Advantage Care; there will be no disruption to patient care as a result of this change in ownership, Nelson stated.

New technologies now enable unprecedented integration of health services enabling quality improvement while managing costs, explained Nelson, who suggests new standards of personalization and care coordination are now achievable. These Virginia localities can expect to see a rise in employment as the company's growth plans call for steady increases in nursing, physical and occupational therapy and certified home health staffing levels.

"Calvert Health will continue to actively pursue additional acquisitions of diverse senior care service companies and will meld them into a fully integrated health services organization," Nelson said. "This is just the beginning."

CHP began operations in January 2005 with funding from private sources as well as several members of its management team. The company's corporate offices are located at 401 East Pratt Street in Baltimore's Inner Harbor. For more information about the company visit its website at www.calverthealthpartners.com.
